

Moldovan PM has meeting with Romanian foreign affairs minister

31 January 2025, Chişinău - Prime Minister Dorin Recean and Romania's Foreign Affairs Minister Emil Hurezeanu today discussed the strong partnership between the two countries and the way Romania supports the strengthening of the energy sector and the European integration way of Moldova. The Romanian minister is on a visit to Chisinau, the first time following the taking over of the office.

PM Dorin Recean expressed gratitude to Romania for the support provided by the neighbour country on all dimensions. "We thank you for unconditional support. Moldova's goal is an as soon as possible integration into the European infrastructure, economy and cultural area. We have also many Romanian experts who help us in the process of approximation of the national legislation to the EU's acquis and we count, in continuation, on your support," the prime minister said.

The officials referred to the common management of the challenges in the energy sector regionally, to the process of Moldova's European integration and the need to prepare the capacities of assimilation of European funds. "The big politics is changing. Both Chisinau and Bucharest must carry out synergies, in order to become stronger regionally," PM Dorin Recean stressed.

For his part, Minister Emil Hurezeanu stressed that Romania would stay close to Moldova, in order to consolidate the energy sector and the country's European integration path.
